Improving traffic in the capital city.

Works in the narrow space available between the tram and railway lines presented certain logistical challenges, as both the hot-water pipeline and gas mains had to be laid over the new exit and the tram line.

Impressions

Image notes

1

Successful realisation despite limited space.

The new exit is located between the ring-road, a tram line and a railway line.

2

Technical challenges.

In the context of this project, a hot-water line and gas main had to be laid over the tram line and the new exit ramp.
