A secure foundation for Prague's tram system.

In addition, PORR installed traffic lights and laid cables and low voltage cables. In parallel with these comprehensive works, a paved pavement and island platform were constructed and the melted asphalt surface layers of the pavement and track system were applied.

Impressions

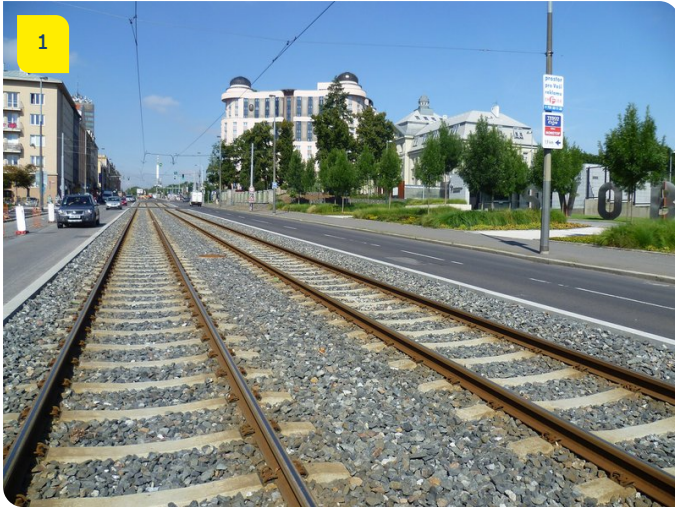

Image notes

1

Free travel on new tracks.

The tram line was executed as part of a public rail system with ballast bed.

2

Added value for the whole area.

Not only passengers will benefit from the renovation of the section of tramway.

3

New from top to bottom.

This project also involved the adaptation of the overhead contact lines.
